

We are the leading B2B platform for skill management

It's a Match | How it works.

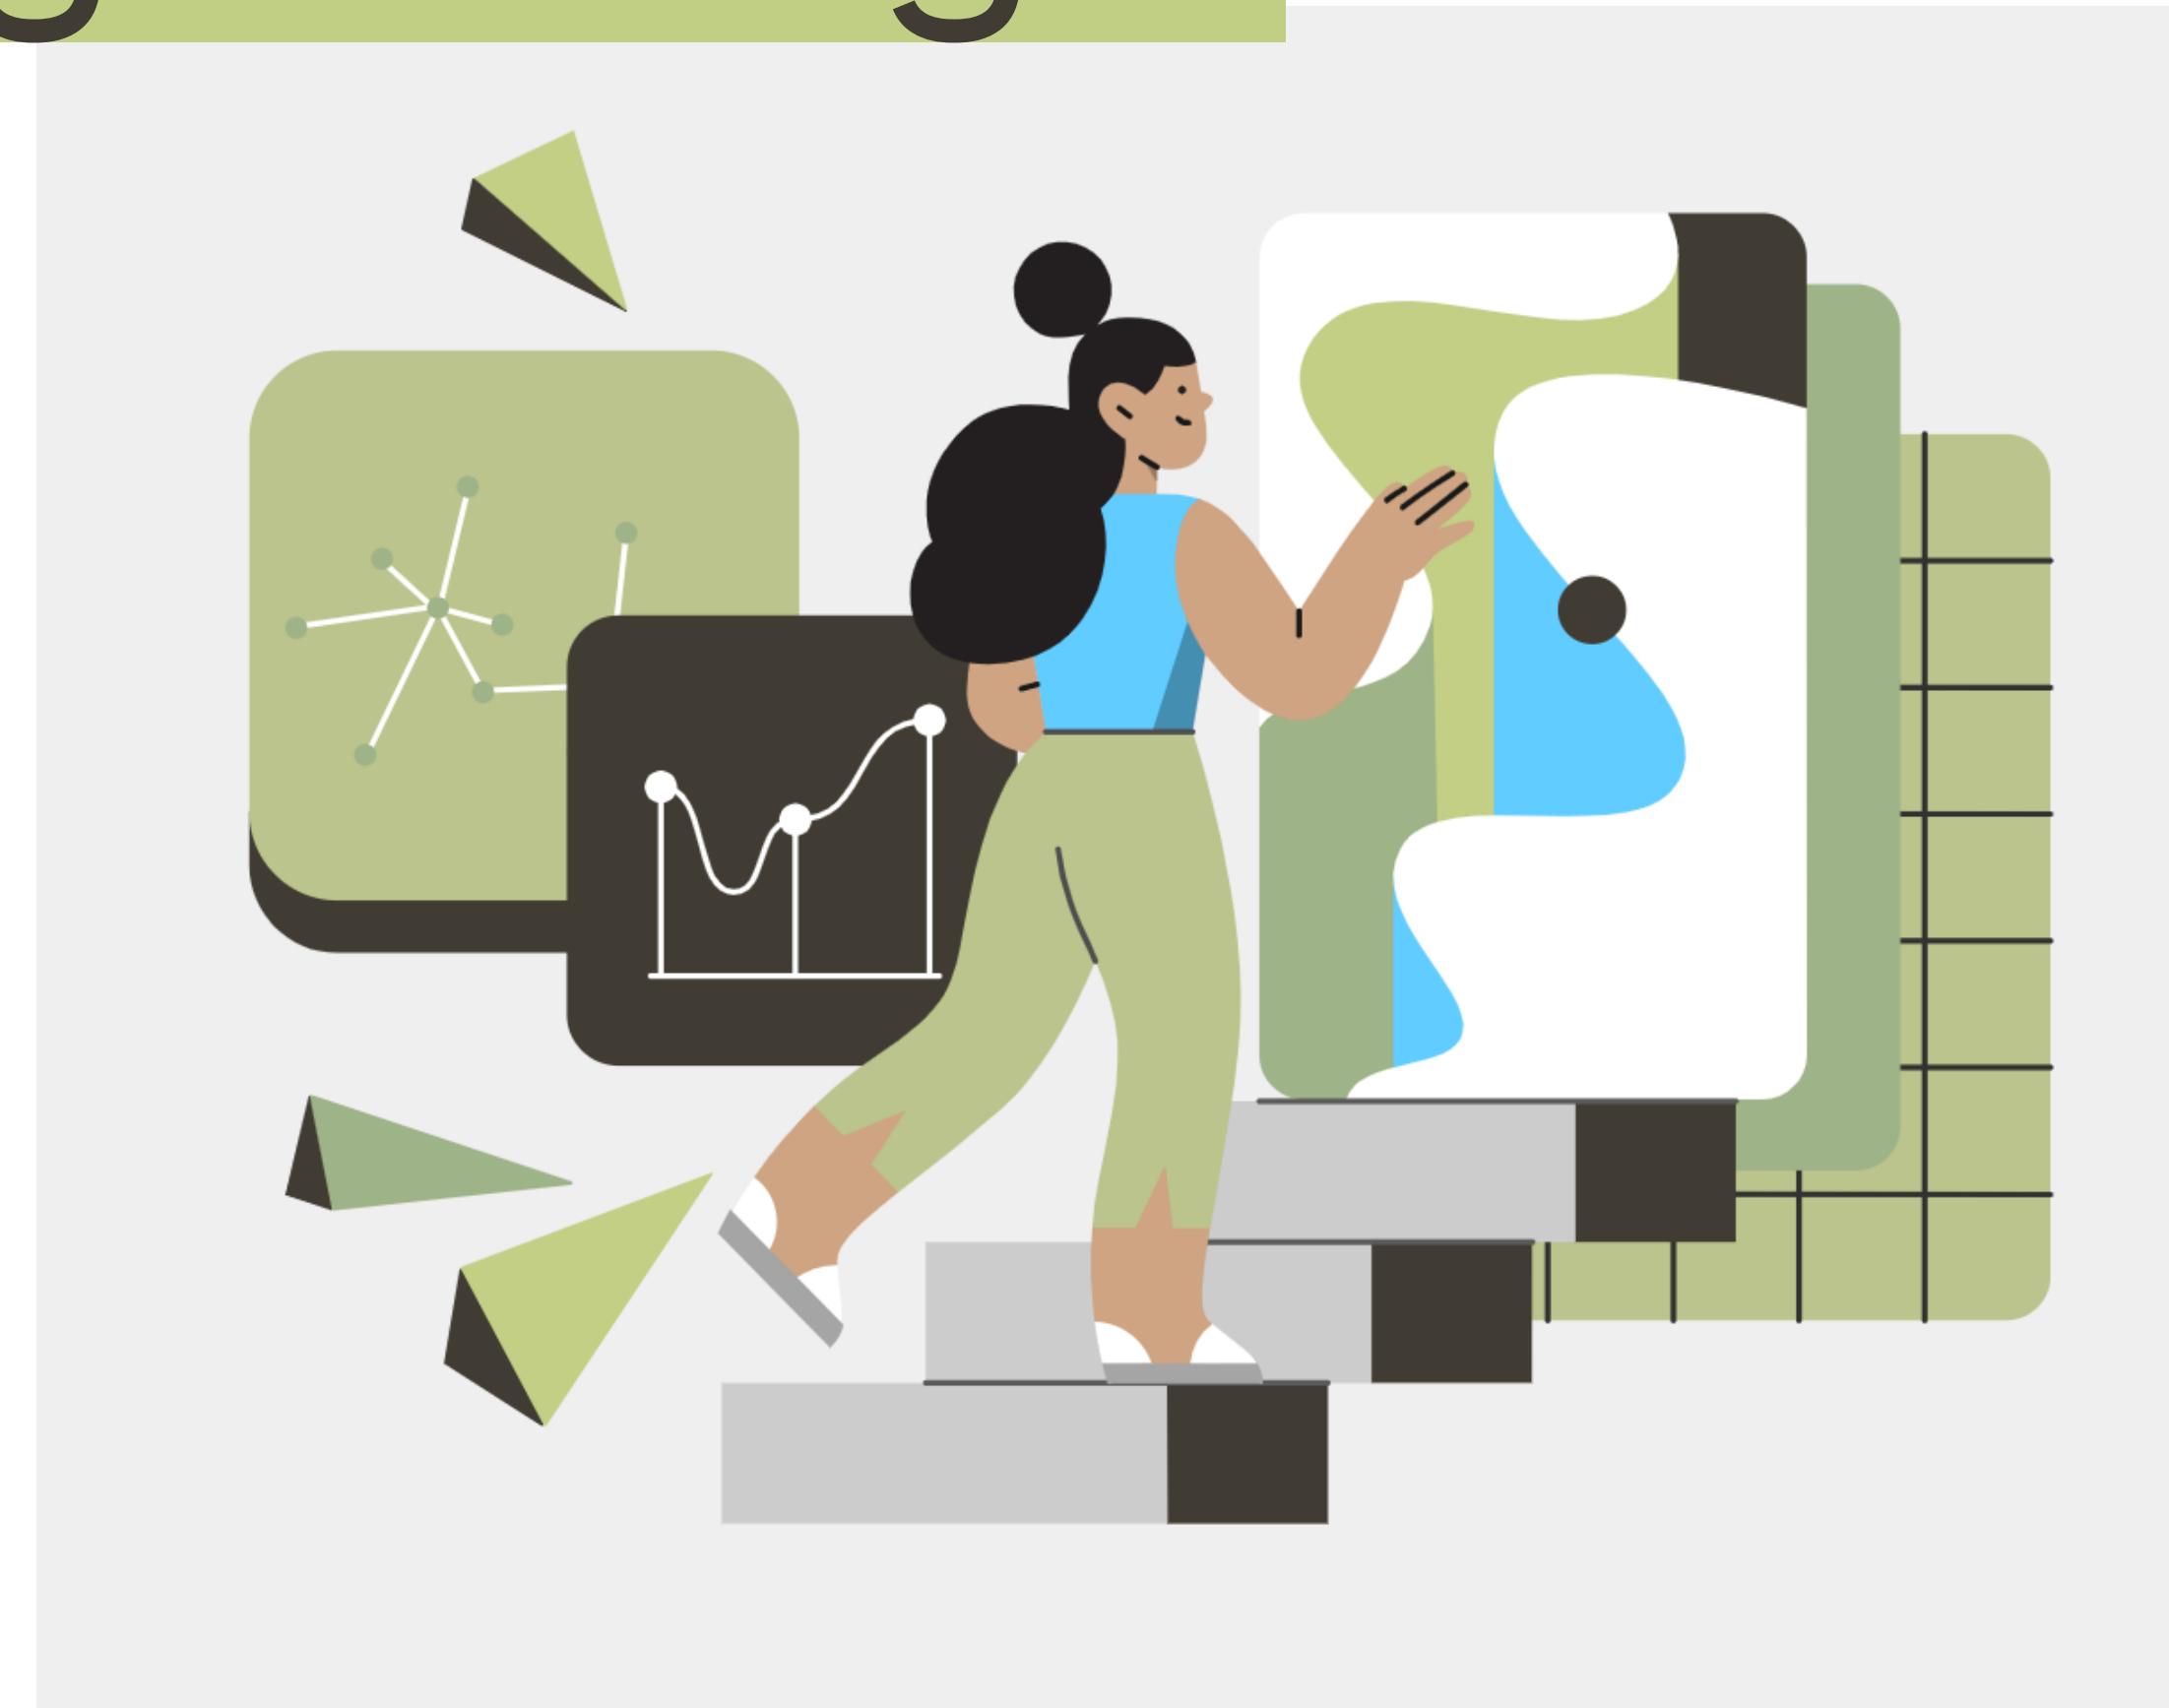

Our skill management platform uses artificial intelligence, data science and years of labor market expertise to ensure comparability of skill levels and job profiles.

To establish a valid relationship between specific skills and job fields, our self-learning algorithms cluster them in a so-called ontology. This allows skills to be assigned to specific job profiles.

The Greple Skill Management Platform automatically learns and semantically understands all important developments of the labor market.
